Private Piano Studio Manhattan, KS

Jan 1995–Present

Thorough and carefully guided instruction in piano literature, technique, ear training (audiation), memorization, and theory. Particular attention is given to a natural and injury-free technique. The curriculum prepares students for the KMTA Music Progressions. Students gain a thorough mastery of all studied materials.

Performance and competition opportunities, such as District Fall Auditions, State Honors Auditions, Concerto Competition, Music Fair, and Music Progressions; as well as seasonal activities such as Holiday Music in the Mall.

Summer programs in the past have included sessions on The Magic Flute, Peter and the Wolf, Carnival of the Animals, Tchaikovsky Discovers America, The Song of the Unicorn, and others for younger students; Film Music, The Piano Music of Frederic Chopin, The Piano Music of Johann Sebastian Bach, Counterpoint, Wolfgang Amadeus Mozart, Piano Concertos, Phantom of the Opera, and others for older, more advanced students.

I have over the past 20 years taught all ages and levels, including pre-piano classes for which I designed the materials myself, and non-major piano classes in the music department at KSU.

From August 1995 until May 2007, I owned a private piano studio in Manhattan with about 20 - 30 students between the ages of 4 and 25. By the end of May 2007, half of the students had been with me since they first started lessons, some for over nine years. After an 18-months sabbatical during which I lived in Olathe and travelled to students' homes to teach, I reopened my Manhattan studio.

I have consistently been able to provide dedicated students with the preparation necessary to compete successfully at local and state competitions and auditions.
